Exempt of National Health Insurance premiums for the period before and after childbirth (four months)!

Eligibility/Application period

- Those covered by National Health Insurance and who are due to give birth or already gave birth, and who have exceeded 85 days of pregnancy (four months of pregnancy) are eligible
 - *Including stillbirths, miscarriages, premature deliveries, and artificial termination of pregnancy
- Applications can be submitted from six months before the due date of delivery. Please hand in applications as soon as you can after delivery. *With the advent of expiry of right to do premium assessment, change of premium can not be done.

Period of exemption from National Health Insurance premiums

- The amount of premiums from the month before the expected month of delivery (or month of delivery) to two months after the expected month of delivery (or month of delivery) (hereafter, "prenatal and postnatal period").
 - *For households with the maximum premium, it may not be possible to get an exemption even if they apply for a reduction.

< Exempt period >

- *For those with a multiple pregnancy, an amount equivalent to six months of premiums, starting from three months before the expected month of birth (or birth month) will be deducted.
- *If the prenatal and postnatal period spans two different fiscal years, insurance premium deductions will be applied to each fiscal year.

 ... Exempt period

- Those who are eligible for insurance premium deductions and have overpaid on their premiums will be refunded.

Documents to be submitted

- Eligibility Certificate or Eligibility Information Notification · My Number verification documents (My Number-related documents for the head of household and insured persons)
- Personal identification document (My Number Card of the insured person, driving license, etc.)
- Proof of birth (Maternal and Child Health Handbook, etc.)

*In the case of multiple pregnancies, copies are required for each individual.
*If submitting an application after birth, it is necessary to produce a document that confirms the date of birth and the parent-child relationship e.g. maternal and child health handbook with the completed birth registration certificate, a copy (extract) of the family register, etc.

COMMON MISTAKES

- X Not enrolling within 14 days
- > You owe premiums retroactively from the eligibility date, but medical expenses during the gap are not covered.
- X Forgetting to disenroll from NHI after getting employer insurance
- > You will be double-billed for premiums. NHI does not automatically cancel.
- X Not bringing the Certificate of Health Insurance Loss
- > The ward office cannot process your enrollment. Ask your former employer to issue this document.

AFTER YOU SUBMIT

1. You receive a qualification confirmation document (資格確認書) — keep this as proof of insurance
2. Monthly premium notices arrive by mail. Pay at convenience stores, banks, or set up auto-debit
3. Dependents can be enrolled on the same form — list all household members
4. Premiums are calculated based on your previous year's income
